Reply to Tax Assessor's Letter of Yesterday

While under no compulsion of law to do so this and most newspapers offer an opponent on a controversial public issue space and position similar to that used by the other side.

Thus we published yesterday Tax Assessor Carter Sutton's letter on the assessment quarrel at the top of Page One. Also, we delayed our reply until today so that the public could digest his statement before we replied.

Now a reply is in order.

The first article in Mr. Sutton's defense of his office yesterday was that the state's records show Hempstead county to be complying with the required 18 per cent ratio of assessment to true value. But Arkansas law calls for merely a sampling procedure, not an actual check of individual properties.

That is to say, the state fishes for individual properties. If the property it catches first happens to be worth $100 an acre, that would make the present assessment ratio look bad. So the state men throw the catch back in the lake and keep on fishing until they come up with a $30-an-acre piece—which makes the present assessment look good, i.e., 18 per cent.

However, public utilities and other highly-assessed businesses say regardless what this sampling system shows the average of state and county percentages is less than half the stated figure, around 8 or 9 per cent.

The sampling system was an ingenious device set up in the first term of Gov. Orval Faubus to offset the late Gov. Francis Cherry's 100 per cent proposed constitutional amendment calling for a 100 per cent assessment—an amendment which Cherry was compelled to drop because of political pressure from the county assessors' state-wide organization.

Any rundown of the records at the courthouse comparing 1971 figures with 1929 will convince you the utilities are correct—and that the state sampling law is a mere subterfuge to protect county assessors while they play politics instead of working on the assessment problem.

The original law governing tax assessors demanded that they actually visit the various properties in a county and make a reasonable assessment base. But as everyone knows, this is unheard of in our day and time. Instead, the assessor hides behind the mythical 18 per cent figure which state politicans say Hempstead has complied with.

Mr. Sutton says that a county-wide reassessment program would cost $85,000. The repeatedly-published correct figure is $78,000. But Mr. Sutton is wrong on two counts, not merely one. The proposal is not for county-wide reassessment—it is for Hope School District 1-A only, at a cost of $37,010.

Our troubles trace back to the day after 1929 when we abolished the 18-mill school tax ceiling. Assessing figures collapsed and it was necessary to inflate the millage from 18 to present 40—and the schools were calling for 50 mills until an roused public beat the proposed 10-mill hike in this Spring's school election.

I believe the local schools need more local money—but they're not going to get it until the Tax Assessor is forced to go back and do the job that tax assessors did before 1929.

The building in which I write this is assessed at about 21 per cent of its full market value. If that were true of property in the county in general there wouldn't be any local school problem—in fact, we could take care of the schools' needs and cut back substantially on the millage rate. Should the money come in I assure you we will demand a reasonable cut in millage.

Rubber Shipped Up Arkansas

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The first shipment of rubber transported up the Arkansas River navigation channel arrived at the Port of Dardanelle Tuesday.

Lists Ways to Ease Relations With China

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon today announced five new steps to ease relations with Communist China, including a move toward direct trade between the two countries.

Other steps included:

—The U.S. is prepared to expedite visas for visitors or groups of visitors from the Peoples Republic of China to the United States.

—U.S. dollar currency controls are to be relaxed to permit the use of dollars by the Peoples Republic. Previously the U.S. Treasury Department had to grant a license for the use of dollars.

—Restrictions will be ended on American oil companies providing fuel to ships or aircraft traveling to or from China except for Chinese-owned or chartered carriers bound to or from North Vietnam, North Korea or Cuba.

—U.S. vessels or aircraft may now carry Chinese cargoes between non-Chinese ports and U.S.owned foreign flag carriers may call at Chinese ports.

President Nixon said that he asked for a list of items of nonstrategic nature which could be placed under general license for direct export to the Peoples Republic of China.

"Following my review and approval of specific items on this list, direct imports of designated items from China will then also be authorized," the President said.

He said that after consideration is given to the results of these changes in trade and travel restrictions "I will consider what additional steps might be taken."

Rozzell Is Silent Over Charges

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Forrest Rozzell, executive secretary of the Arkansas Education Association, refused Tuesday to discuss with newsmen charges by two teacher officials that he was not listening to the AEA membership.

Both C. Ray Baker of Fort Smith, AEA president, and James O'Cain of Little Rock, president of the Arkansas Classroom Teachers Association, have claimed that Rozzell was not consulting sufficiently with the AEA membership.

If Rip Were to Awake Today He Would Need Dictionary, No Haircut

By JOY STILLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — If Rip Van Winkle were to awake today he wouldn't need a haircut, but he would need a dictionary. While his flowing locks and beard would be right in style, his vocabulary would be completely out of date.

Not only would Rip find it hard to rap, but he'd discover that many of the words he knew in his renap days have taken on a different meaning. And he'd be confronted by new ones that have achieved instant popularity.

Here's a little quiz that will show Rip whether he's with it:

Relevant: (a) father of the bridge; (b) showing religious fervor; (c) "the leg bone's connected to the ankle bone."

Women's lib: (a) a new female religion; (b) and article of ladies' clothing; (c) boycotting the boys.

Midi: (a) youth with sea legs; (b) no legs to see; (c) a bone of contention.

Generation gap: (a) electricity flowing between two ends of a wire; (b) vive le difference!; (c) "but you just don't understand."

Polarization: (a) having opposing vibes; (b) flying over the Arctic Circle; (c) learning to speak Polish.

Crunch: (a) lunch on a credit card; (b) a new kind of candy bar; (c) an irresistible force meeting an immovable object.

Hassle: (a) a king-size problem; (b) a man's home is his ...v (c) a small stool for the feet.

Stoned: (a) hit by rocks; (b) the state of having pebble-filled shoes; (c) pleasantly unaware.

Charisma: (a) his own thing; (b) illness caused by vitamin deficiency; (c) an Oriental religion.

Groovy: (a) long-playing phonograph record; (b) word of teen-age praise; (c) a flavoring for a meat dish.

Uptight: (a) the morning after a binge; (b) a state of nonrelaxation; (c) a brand of pantyhose.

Copout: (a) policemen's strike; (b) easy way out; (c) art form employing scissors and paper.

If Rip gets all the definitions right, he has cheated; if he answers 10 correctly he's ready to make the rounds of nighttime TV talk shows; if he's up on five he can declare his candidacy for the 1972 presidential election; if his score is worse than that he'd better take a couple of sleeping pills and split the scene for another 20 years.

Visit by Americans to China May Be Historic Change in Relations

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press Writer

Peking's welcome for the American table tennis team may prove in time to have been a historic breakthrough.

The smiles showered on the visiting Americans are being widely analyzed for what may be behind them, and that could well be a conviction among China's leaders that the time has come to end their country's isolation from the Western world.

It is, of course, possible that the Chinese leaders are interpreting what they hear about the United States in their own Chinese way, measuring events by their own yardsticks, in which case they might expect protest and violence in America to billow into proletarian revolution.

None of the Chinese leaders knows much about the United States.

Except for Chou En-lai, the able and well traveled premier, none of them has even seen a Western nation.

Whatever their motivation, the Chinese leaders may have decided that a critical moment has arrived for the development of a diplomatic offensive. They could welcome such things as cultural exchange, even commercial exchange, perhaps concentrating on the people-to-people level. On that level there would be steady improvement of relations and a growth of mutual confidence.

Peking, though it has noted official U.S. gestures suggesting better government-to-government relations, has not to any visible extent reduced its daily quota of attacks on the "U.S. imperialists." That means the U.S. government and whoever supports it. Meanwhile, though, Peking has attractive lures to offer the world, including the Americans.

Red China's leaders are aware of the universal yearning for peace in a world which has seen almost uninterrupted strife for decades. People, including Americans, are eager for smiles.

Communist China's 800 million or more people are an enormous potential market. Peking knows how capitalists look upon potential markets. Government after government in the West has recognized Peking, withdrawing recognition from Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist regime on Formosa.

Peking may consider this to be just the moment to center attention on the United States, just the right time to let down some of the bars, just the time to invite American correspondents in for a look.

All that can create an impression that Red China, having recovered from the three-year upheaval of the Cultural Revolution, is more friendly now, more rational in Western eyes, less isolated and thus less frightening. And China's power counterbalances the Soviet Union's in Asia.

Traditionally Americans have had a spot in their collective heart for China, although historically Americans cannot claim to have been above joining in the international abuse of the Chinese in the last century. There remains an eagerness among Americans for good relations with the Chinese people.

Bloody Riots Break Out in Belfast

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — For seven hours a thousand British troops battled 2,000 Protestants trying to firebomb a Roman Catholic church Tuesday night in the bloodiest rioting in Northern Ireland in weeks.

Four soldiers were set ablaze by Molotov cocktails at the height of the fight, but other troops doused the flames before they suffered serious injury.

The violence was triggered when a 12-year-old Protestant, Harry Martin, was felled by a burst of automatic fire as a Protestant parade wound up four days of Easter demonstrations that until then had been peaceful.

Martin was either in the parade or watching it when some of the 3,000 young marchers broke through a protective police cordon around a Catholic section. The Protestants waved Union Jacks, the Catholic waved the Irish Republic's tricolor; then the burut of firing came, wounding young Martin and grazing three adults.

A bullet was removed from the child's thigh and he was reported in satisfactory condition. But an angry crowd of Protestants gathered and after an hour attacked St. Matthew's church, which the Protestants charge is a sanctuary and snipers' post for the terrorist Irish Republican Army.

The British troops threw up barriers of barbed wire and armor to keep back the mobs. The Protestants attacked with gasoline bombs, concrete slabs, bottles, rocks and iron.

When the mob was finally put to flight, at least 13 civilians and several soldiers had been injured, and 27 persons had been arrested.

Politicians Take Part in Dedication

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP) — Three of Arkansas' leading political figures took part Tuesday afternoon in the dedication of a $7 million bridge across the Arkansas River between Fort Smith and Van Buren.

Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., was the principal speaker and his audience included Rep. John Paul Hammerschmidt, R-Ark., and Gov. Dale Bumpers.

McClellan called the completion of the Arkansas River navigation project a foundation for the greatest era of growth and development in the history of the state.

The senator said that Arkansas should turn to further development of the tributaries of the Arkansas and their drainage and basin areas.

Bumpers said the bridge and development of the river showed the foresight of many and the product of much hard work. He said the navigable river would cause the greatest single impact the state has ever known.

State Plant Switched to Peace Role

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government today began the first major conversion of its chemical and biological war complex to peaceful uses.

A Defense Department plant at Pine Bluff, Ark., that once developed killer germs will become a center for research into the effects on man of everyday chemicals.

In line with President Nixon's announcement last November ending production of chemicals and germ warfare agents, the Defense Department is presenting to the Food and Drug Administration a "right of entry" letter that begins the new role for a portion of the Pine Bluff arsenal.

Within one year, the FDA and other federal units are scheduled to occupy all 33

Israel Warns Next War to Be Worst

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Israel's chief of staff warned today that if war with Egypt breaks out again Israeli troops "will rain blows on Egypt, and not only in the canal zone."

"We will bring such pressure to bear on our enemies they will reach the conclusion they can achieve nothing by force," Lt. Gen. Haim Bar-Lev wrote in the army's monthly magazine.

Bar-Lev said U.S. arms supplies had put Israel on its feet "for a not inconsiderable period to come." He said the army planned "to grow even stronger next year, and whether or not war breaks out, we will absorb into our deployment large quantities of more equipment."

Israeli officials in Jerusalem were reported dismayed by U.S. State Department comment implying that Israel is to some extent responsible for the most recent Soviet arms shipments to Egypt.

A State Department spokesman Monday linked the weapons deliveries to a lack of progress in Middle East peace talks. The United States recently has held Israel responsible for the lack of progress.

However, reliable sources said the Israeli government welcomed the State Department's comment that the arms shipments "should not be taken lightly." Soviet military supplies to Egypt have been "consistent and continuous since 1955 and have never been determined or influenced by political activities," the sources said.

Cairo's semiofficial newspaper Al Ahram charged Israel with trying to stir up another "feverish campaign" to get more arms to tighten its grip on occupied Arab territory.

Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad plans to visit Moscow Thursday for an exchange of views with Soviet leaders, the Middle East News Agency reported from Cairo today. Riad had planned to go Monday but delayed to attend the meeting in the Egyptian capital of the leaders of Libya, Sudan and Syria with President Anwar Sadat of Egypt.

Two Killed in Garland County Wreck

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Two Garland County men were killed Tuesday night in a two-car accident six miles north of Hot Springs on Arkansas 7.

State Police identified the victims as R. N. Kieth, 52, and Elbert R. Johnson, 57, both of near Hot Springs

Officers said the accident occurred when a car driven by Johnson crossed the center line and collided with Kieth's car.

Urban Renewal Approval by July 1 Likely

Mike Kelley, Director of the Hope Housing Authority, was present at the City Board of Directors meeting last night to explain some changes in the agreement between the City and the federal government in connection with the proposed Downtown Urban Renewal Project. The changes in federal requirements result in the City having to use less work or matching funds toward the total cost of the project. Mr. Kelley says that final approval of the project is expected by July 1.

Cecil Weaver and Rev. Eugene Shuster, representing the Church of Jehovah's Witnesses, appeared before the City Directors in connection with a sewer problem at two homes owned by Mr. Weaver and the church property on South Walker between 18th and 19th Street.

Sewerage from septic tanks serving the two residences is running into a ditch on 19th Street and creating a health hazard. A recent survey shows that these properties can be connected to the sanitary sewer system but it would be pretty expensive. Mr. Weaver thought he could correct his problem by rebuilding the septic tanks. The Board of Directors requested that the State Health Department be asked to study the situation and furnish Mr. Weaver with information on what would be necessary to comply with the State Helath laws on the disposal of sewerage.

The Board of Directors passed a resolution adopting the 1970 edition of the Fire Prevention Code, The National Electric Code, and the Arkansas State Plumbing Code. These Codes have been used in Hope for a long time but the federal government requires notice that they are

Fierce Fight for Besieged Fire Base 6

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — More fighting raged near Fire Base 6 today, and a U.S. helicopter lifted out four of the five American advisers at the besieged outpost in the central highlands.

Meanwhile, 4,000 South Vietnamese reinforcements poured into the area.

The Americans were not wounded, and no reason was given for bringing them out. But there was speculation that they were exhausted by the two-week-old siege and were being given a rest.

Field reports said that when the helicopter landed at the base, about 40 South Vietnamese soldiers swarmed to it trying to flee from the base.

Eight of them got into the chopper and were flown out with the Americans. Others tried to hang on to the landing skids—as South Vietnamese troops did during the retreat from Laos—but the pilots kicked them off.

The new fighting broke out half a mile northwest of the base Tuesday night and lasted until shortly before noon.

South Vietnamese headquarters in Saigon claimed 96 North Vietnamese killed in the battle today, 50 of them by artillery and by U.S. and South Vietnamese fighter-bombers. A spokesman claimed more than 2,500 of the enemy have been killed since the North Vietnamese first attacked the base in the western central highlands two weeks ago.

The lead column of the eight relief battalions reached the hilltop base near the juncture of the Laotian and Cambodian borders Tuesday night without encountering opposition. Despite the outbreak of fighting on the northwest, other reinforcement units met little or no resistance as they advanced from other directions by foot and by U.S. helicopter.

This absence of enemy opposition led some U.S. officers to speculate that much of the North Vietnamese force besieging the base has pulled back to regroup.

Less than two battalions of South Vietnamese have been holding the base, but their exact number is now known.

Hotel Fire in Cleveland Kills Seven

CLEVELAND (AP) — Flames raced through the 10-story Pick Carter Hotel Tuesday night. Fire officials said seven persons were killed, including four relatives of members of a road company of the musical "Hair."

Smoke streamed from windows of all the hotel floors and guests yelled from windows for help as firemen urged them to remain calm and wait for evacuation.

Many guests climbed down ladders provided by firemen. Others escaped on stairways and elevators. In all, about 220 guests and 80 hotel staff members were evacuated from the 500-room structure.

Eight persons were hospitalized, five for smoke inhalation, two for injuries suffered in falls, and one for treatment of burns.

"By the time I got to the lobby it was already ablaze," said Andrew T. Ginnan, general manager of the hotel, who had been summoned from his eighth-floor suite. "We literally had to run through fire to get to the door. All I know is it happened very, very fast."

The fire was believed to have begun in a kitchen area in the basement, but the cause was not known.

Firemen said seven bodies were found in a room-by-room search completed early today.

The victims included Mrs. Jonathon Johnson, 18, wife of a cast member in the "Hair" production, and her daughter Melissa, 1, of Renton, Wash., and Mrs. Russell F. Carlson, 23, wife of the "Hair" stage manager, and her daughter, Corrine, 11 months, of St. Louis.

"Hair" was being presented at the nearby Hanna Theater when the fire began. Thirteen cast members were registered at the hotel.

New Mexico Man May Get Prison Job

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — Howard Leach, correction commissioner for New Mexico, said Tuesday he had talked with John H. Haley of Little Rock, chairman of the Arkansas Board of Correction, about taking the job as correction commissioner in Arkansas.

Leach said he would consider taking the job, depending on the conditions. He did not elaborate on what the conditions must be.

The board is seeking a replacement for Robert Sarver, who was fired as Arkansas commissioner March 29.

Leach also said that Felix Rodriguez, head of the maximum security prison in New Mexico, also might take a position in the Arkansas system.

Leach and Rodriguez visited Arkansas about two months ago to inspect the blood plasma program at Cummins Prison Farm.

Others known to have been contacted about the job included Terrell Don Hutto, who has been in the Texas correction system for about five years.

Horse Racing Nets State $3.1 Million

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Revenue Department said Tuesday that the state received $3,186,313 from the 1971 racing season at Oaklawn Park at Hot Springs.

The state's receipts from the track include a 6 per cent tax on pari-mutuel betting, a 10 per cent tax on admissions and miscellaneous licenses, one-third of the breakage and a $25,000 operating fee.

Forest Fire Danger Remains

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Forester Virgil T. Cothren says the forest fire danger in the state will be critical again today.

Cothren said Tuesday that light rains in North Arkansas had alleviated the forest fire hazard slightly, but he urged caution by persons planning to burn debris.

Chou Sees a New Page in Relations

By JOHN RODERICK
Associated Press Writer

PEKING (AP) — Communist Chinese Premier Chou En-lai told a U.S. table tennis delegation today their visit to mainland China had opened "a new page in relations" between the peoples of China and the United States.

He added he believed their visit would lead to visits soon of more Americans, including newsmen.

Chou. 73, regarded as Red China's leading moderate, spoke at a two-hour reception for table tennis teams from the United States, Britain Canada, Nigeria and Colombia. They were invited to visit Communist China when the world table tennis championships ended in Japan a week ago.

Chou asked the 15-member U.S. delegation—the first American group to visit the People's Republic of China—to extend the regards of the Chinese people to the American people.

"In the past," he said, "exchanges between the peoples of China and the United States have been very numerous. They have been cut off for a long time. Now, with your acceptance of our invitation, you have opened a new page in the relations of the Chinese and American people. I am confident that this beginning again of our friendship will certainly meet with the majority support of our two peoples."

Chou paused, then asked the Americans: "Don't you agree with me?"

The Americans applauded.

Chou, who had recognized me earlier despite my absence of 23 years from mainland China, then turned to me and in a reference to visits by more American newsmen said: "Mr. Roderick, you have opened the door."

I replied that the presence of U.S. correspondents could lead to deeper understanding between our two countries.

Jack Howard of Seattle, Wash., the captain of the American team, told Chou he hoped a Chinese team would come to the United States.

Chou said this was up to Graham Steenhoven, the president of the U.S. Table Tennis Association, and Steenhoven said afterward the Chinese had been invited to the United States.

Chou said China wants to have contacts with all countries, even those which it has no diplomatic relations.

my quickened as we moved toward the end of the first quarter.

McCracken, chairman of President Nixon's Council of Economic Advisers, referred to the upcoming release of gross national product figures, the output of the country's goods and services in January, February and March.

Although other statistical indicators have pointed to a possible weak showing by GNP during the first quarter, McCracken sees the situation differently.

He told newsmen Tuesday auto sales and retail sales, in particular, stepped up sharply during the last part of the three-month period.

"This is usually a harbinger of things to come in the economy," he said. As to the impact on reducing inflation and unemployment, "It'll take a little time. It always does."

GNP, the broadest measure of the pace of the economy, is tentatively scheduled to be released Friday. The council has predicted it will grow by 9 per cent this year and has stuck by the prediction despite lower forecasts by private economists.

The faster growth of the economy, as the council sees it, is supposed to bring down unemployment to 4.5 per cent and reduce the rate of inflation to 3 per cent by mid-1972.

The administration is shooting for a first-quarter growth of about $30 billion in GNP to keep the economy on the track Nixon has laid out. His advisers are hoping a strong rebound in auto production will provide most of the early impetus.

McCracken made his comments on the economy's performance as the White House released its third "inflation alert," a report on wage and price developments in the last three months.

updated annually.

The Board also passed a resolution assuring the First United Methodist Church that the City would not cross the property recently purchased by the church with a road to service the sewerage lift station now serving the Vocational Technical School and that property. This resolution was necessary to give the church unrestricted use of the property and to clear their title of any easements across the property.

The Directors discussed a suggestion from the National Police Officers Association that insurance be provided to cover the liability of a police officer in the conduct of his official business of law enforcement. The Board requested the City Manager to get complete information on the current trends in police liability and the extent and cost of such insurance.

The City Directors have had under consideration for some time a proposal to exchange some parcels of land with Ernest and Galen May in order to straighten up the boundaries between their property and the airport property. The parcels have recently been surveyed and two independent appraisals secured. After reviewing the surveys and appraisals, the City Directors voted not to make the exchange.

Mills Attacks Involvement in Vietnam

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., continued his attack Tuesday on American military involvement in Vietnam.

Mills, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, told a group of high school students, that he had cautioned former President Lyndon B. Johnson not to escalate the war.

The congressman said he hoped the U.S. could get out of Vietnam as soon as possible. He said that he hoped the nation had learned a lesson from the Vietnam conflict and would not send American troops into another such conflict "if we're not going to win."

Legislator Would Split California

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Imagine the nation's most populous state split lengthwise into two states, East California and West California.

West California would be a skinny coastal state some 500 miles long and 50 miles wide with most of the state's current population of 20 million.

East California would run more than 700 miles—from Oregon to Mexico—and would be a mountain, valley and desert state with a relatively small population.

This is the idea of the dean of the state legislature, Sen. Randolph Collier, a Democrat from Yreka near the Oregon border. He would become an East Californian.

For years, Sen. Richard J. Dolwig, a Republican from the San Francisco Peninsula, sponsored bills to divide California into north and south sections at the Tehachapi Mountains.

Dolwig didn't run for re-election but Collier picked up the two-state idea—altering it into a matter of political long division.

Collier, a silver-haired veteran, would put the 13 coastal counties from San Diego to a point north of the Golden Gate into West California. The other 45 counties would go to the East.

It makes political sense to Collier. With reapportionment orders of the courts, the more populous areas of California continue to gain more political control in Sacramento.

Rural areas such as Collier's big northern California district are losing their former strength.

Prison Figure Resigns Post

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — J. B. Garrett, state Pardon and Paroles director, has resigned effective April 30.

Garrett, who has served in the director's position since April 1970, put in his last day on the job Tuesday. He will take 17 days of accumulated vacation time before going off the state payroll.

Texarkanian Charged With Kidnap, Rape

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP) — Lonnie Armster, 21, of Texarkana was charged today with kidnaping, rape and assault with intent to kill in the abduction of a Texarkana woman.

Miller County Sheriff Leslie Greer said the incident occurred shortly after midnight today. He said the woman and two male companions had stopped to talk with a man and the four decided to have a drink together. Officers said an argument ensued and the woman's two companions were stabbed and thrown from the car.

Authorities said the other man then drove away with the woman. The two men who were stabbed notified authorities and then were treated at a Texarkana hospital and released.

Greer said he spotted a car fitting the description of the one the man was driving. He said when he attempted to stop the car, the driver took off at a high rate of speed. Greer said he and other officers gave chase and that the car crashed into a ditch in the College Hill section of Texarkana. Greer said the driver jumped from the car and fled on foot.

Greer said he and State Trooper Marvin Finyard arrested Armster about 30 minutes later.

Armster was being held this morning in the Miller County Jail at Texarkana. No bond had been set.

Officers Send Letter to Governor

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Former Correction Commissioner Robert Sarver said Tuesday night that he was not surprised at a letter signed by most of the state's parole officers that purportedly backs Gov. Dale Bumpers position in the ouster of Sarver.

Neither Bumpers nor six parole officers contacted about the letter would reveal its contents Tuesday, but one signer said the letter concurred in Bumpers' actions. The officer said the letter backed the governor "as to his feelings as far as personnel matters are concerned."

He said all but one or two of the state's parole officers signed the letter.

Sarver said he felt no ill will toward the signers. "That's the way politics works," the ex-commissioner said.

"They're going to have to go with the winner," Sarver said. "They're interested in their own job ... they've been working in politics many, many years so I would not be surprised that such a letter was sent."

Memorial Group for New Church

A Memorial Committee was designated by the Administrative Board of the First United Methodist Church on Monday night, April 12 to receive memorial gifts toward the construction of the new building.

The committee, Bill Routon, chairman of the Board of Trustees; Lloyd Hendrix, chairman of the Building Fund Financial Campaign; and the Rev. Norris Steele, pastor, shall determine what the scale of payment on a memorial shall be and how they shall be designated.

If anyone is interested in having a memorial in the new church building in honor of some loved one, they are asked to contact a member of this committee.

buildings at Pine Bluff.

They will constitute the new National Center for Toxicological Research investigating long-term health effects of food additives, industrial and household chemicals, pesticides, cosmetics and drugs.

The purpose, said FDA Commissioner Charles C. Edwards in remarks prepared for a ceremony at Pine Bluff, is "to extend our knowledge of the chronic, persistent and often insidious effects of an increasing array of chemical substances found in man's environment.

"Through past research we already know many of the short-term effects of high rates of exposure to chemicals. This is the easy part.

"But this center hopefully will enable us to develop a vital new knowledge about cumulative effects and possible connection to mutations, birth defects, cancer, or other diseases and debilities."

Edwards emphasized the center is intended to be not a national testing laboratory but a research complex that will develop test methods for others to employ.

WSCS Circle Meets

Food of the spirit and for the body was the subject of a program which Mrs. Bob Parham presented at the meeting of Circle 5, WSCS, Monday night, April 12 in the home of Mrs. Dale Flowers with Mrs. Earl Whitaker, co-hostess.

Based on Luke 10:38-45, the message dealt with the need of fellowship as well as food, and the story of Mary and Martha illustrated this. Mrs. Austin Hutson read "The Search for Silver," and further discussion was given by Mrs. Flowers and Mrs. A.W. McIver, Jr.

The meeting was opened with prayer by Circle chairman Mary Anita Laseter. Several matters of policy and procedure transpired during a business meeting. After the interesting program, the hostesses served a peach dessert, nuts and frosted lime punch to 12 members.

Circle 1 Meets

On Monday, April 12 Circle 1 of the WSCS met in the home of Mrs. Syd McMath with Mrs. Graydon Anthony, assistant hostess.

Mrs. Albert Graves presided and conducted the business session. The Lenten offering was made, and Mrs. R.T. White collected dues. Mrs. Tom Watson presented a thought-provoking program, "After Easter, What?" She closed with prayer.

During the social hour the hostesses served delightful refreshments to 20 members.

Gardenia Club Meets

Mrs. Wallace Martin served as hostess when the Gardenia Garden Club met at the Douglas Building on April 8. Mrs. Lonnie Crow opened the meeting in the absence of the president, Mrs. David Waddle. During the business meeting Mrs. Royce Weisenberger reported on the state meeting of the Arkansas Federation of Garden Clubs in Hot Springs which she and Mrs. Crow had attended.

Mrs. Charles Carey gave the slate of officers chosen by the nominating committee, and it was accepted by acclamation. This year's officers will serve another year with the exception of the historian. Mrs. Weisenberger and Mrs. Earl Whitaker have agreed to share the duties of this office. An arrangement of white irises and green fern brought by Mrs. Carey stimulated a discussion by the club.

"How Fertilizer Socks It to 'Em" was the program which Mrs. Lonnie Crow presented in a most interesting way. She also distributed folders containing helpful information to gardeners. Dessert and coffee were served to the members during the refreshment hour.

Caudle-Regan Vows Exchanged

On April 4, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, the First Baptist Church, Atlanta, Texas, was the setting for the marriage of Miss Frances Jane Caudle and Midshipman Joseph Stephen Regan, USNR. Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Nolen Caudle of Atlanta. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs.Joseph William Regan of Annandale, Virginia.

The Reverend David Jenkins officiated the double ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floorlength gown of white crepe. The bodice and full sleeves were of pleated crepe and was joined to the full gored skirt by a brocaded band of white satin. Lace was appliqued on the collar and sleeves. Her elbow length veil of white tulle was attached to a band of white satin roses and lace daisies, ornamented with pearls. She wore a single string of pearls, a gift of the groom. Her bouquet was a large white orchid surrounded by split carnations with the white ribbons tied in loveknots.

Attending her sister as matron of honor was Mrs. Charles Neal Sherman of Austin. Bridesmaids were Mrs. John Bryan, Texarkana; Miss Kathy Trammell, Atlanta; and Miss Diana Adams, Glen Rose, Texas. The attendants wore floor-length gowns of scarlet velvet with a gold velvet band and matching shoes. Each carried a nosegay of gold chrysanthemums accented with scarlet leaves and ribbons completed by gold ribbon streamers tied in loveknots.

The groom was attented by his brother Patrick Charles Regan, as best man, Midshipman Charles Neal Sherman, Midshipman David Murff Hardy, and Robert L. Sutton. Ushers were Midshipman Robert L. Hopkins, Midshipman Bruce McKenzie-Graham, Midshipman Duke Martin, and Jim Moore.

The mother of the bride wore a dress of gold knit with a matching coat and bone accessories. The mother of the groom wore a dress of chartreuse lace chiffon with a matching coat and matching accessories. Both wore corsages of purple orchids.

A reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church.

The couple will make their home in Austin, where both will attend the University of Texas.

Out of town guests for the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Charles Regan and George Regan, Troy, New York; Mr. and Mrs. James Pilkinton and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Huckabee, Hope, Mrs. O.B. Hardman and Lynette Cox, Arkadelphia, Mr. and Mrs. James W. Caudle and Jeff, Lordsburg, New Mexico; Mrs. Alvin Butler, Mrs. James Daniels, and Miss Peggy Butler, Bodcaw, and Mrs. Jeff Jones, Lewisville, Texas.

On Saturday evening, April 3, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph William Regan were hosts for the rehearsal dinner in the banquet room of the Ponderosa Restaurant. The wedding party was seated at a U-shaped table. On the head table was a beautiful arrangement of scarlet and gold carnations and gold Dutch iris. The couple chose this time to present gifts to their attendants.

Scott Dislikes Acting Awards, Gets Another

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — George C. Scott, who says he abhors acting awards, finds himself with another honor. He has been nominated for an Emmy for his performance in "The Price."

The Academy of Television Arts and Sciences nominated Scott Monday for the best single performance by a leading actor. Also named were Jack Cassidy for "The Andersonville Trial," Hal Holbrook for "A Clear and Present Danger" World Premiere, Richard Widmark for "Vanished" and Gig Young for "The Neon Ceiling."

"The Andersonville Trial," which Scott directed, also won an Emmy nomination as the outstanding single program of the 1970-71 season. Its competition: "Hamlet" and "The Price," both by Hallmark Hall of Fame; "They're Tearing Down Tim O'Reilly's Bar" from Rod Serling's Night Gallery; and the four-hour "Vanished."

"Hamlet" took top honors in the nominations with a total of 13. Oddly, Richard Chamberlain, who played Hamlet, didn't get a mention.

Among the comedy series, "The Mary Tyler Moore Show" received the most nominations—nine. "All in the Family," which features a bigot in the leading role, followed with eight. Both were nominated for outstanding comedy series, along with "Arnie," "Love, American Style" and "The Odd Couple."

For the outstanding dramatic series: "The First Churchills," "Ironside," "N.E.T. Playhouse," "Marcus Welby, M.D." and "The Senator—The Bold Ones." Nine nominations went to the latter show, which has been canceled by NBC.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

OFF AGAIN, ON AGAIN, GONE AGAIN—NO HOPE

Dear Helen:

My husband and I have separated 14 times in the past two years. Before that, it wasn't quite so bad, though 10 years of marriage hasn't been exactly heaven.

Two of our biggest problems are: his drinking, and his father. The booze problem got so bad that my husband lost his job, but his 97-year-old father (who lives with us and hasn't taken a bath in 12 years) gives him $200 a week, and he lushes up most of it.

We have a 10-room house, but "Papa" insists on sleeping till noon every day on the living room sofa. His aversion to water makes things very bad. Between a drunk husband and an overripe father-in-law, my life is not smooth.

I moved out again last week. I don't think I am even missed. If I went back, do you think I have any chance of changing things? —CAN'T STAND FAILURE

Dear C.S.F.:

If you haven't "changed things" in 14 tries—well, let's put it this way: admitting failure is sometimes the first step toward a new and better life. (I'd rate your last one pretty "rank.")—H.

Dear Helen:

A State Legislator has said that VD is the biggest epidemic to hit the suburbs since crabgrass.

Isn't it time we had mass examinations at school—or, at the least, insist that every student present a certificate from a doctor before he or she gets report cards each semester?

If smallpox and polio can be all but eliminated, why not VD? — TERRIBLY WORRIED

Dear Worried:

Veneral disease won't be radicated until someone discovers a fool proof immunization, and it becomes as routine as smallpox vaccinations.

Control? — Education, beginning in grade school! If every child (adult too) knew all the facts about VD—symptoms, spread, dangers when left untreated, and comparative ease with which it can be cured (or prevented), the "epidemic" would soon be over.

It's sad that in these enlightened times so many teenagers must write to columnists for information they should be receiving at home or at school. A typical example:

Dear Helen:

It happened just once, and he's my ex-boyfriend now. I found out too late I was just another notch on his belt. Helen, I'm scared to death I might have VD, and I can't tell my folks. They'd never get over the shame. I don't have money for treatments and, besides, our doctor would contact Mom, as I'm under age.—HELP!

Dear Help: There's a County Venereal Disease Clinic in your town (almost every large or medium-sized city has one). Examination and treatment are free, and your parents are NOT contacted. VD is completly curable if caught early, and no one in your family need ever know, unless you wish to tell.

Find the address in your telephone book under County Government health services (or ask the operator for the number).

P.S. These days, most states do not require parental knowledge for treatment of venereal disease in teenagers.—H.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Geographic series, in its windup program of the season Tuesday night, was dedicated to conservation activities in the Arctic.

The CBS hour concentrated on Al Oeming, a naturalist with a 1,500-acre game preserve in Alberta, where he breeds rare and threatened species including caribou, musk ox and the arctic hare. Much of the film was shot on an arctic expedition last summer when he was collecting animals to improve his breeding stock or to try to start new families.

They used helicopters and airplanes in the hunt. Musk ox were herded by low flying planes into water so the young could be separated from the herd. An attempt to catch a male and female caribou in a net ended in failure when two young females were caught. The program showed a white whale chase and the capture of a narwhal—a whale with a single horn growing from his head—which ended with the animal's accidental death. There was a merry sequence with nets running around wildly trying to capture scurrying arctic hares.

The film work was excellent. Best of all there was no lecturing on conservation. With all the editorializing in the past couple of seasons by nature programs, the public must be aware of endangered species. "Journey to the High Arctic" didn't nag, since conservation was implicit throughout, and was the better for it.

"Sixty Minutes" cohosts Mike Wallace and Morley Safer went globe-trotting to put together Tuesday night's program. Safer visited My Lai with a camera crew and had some sober, philosophical reflections on the massacre. He stopped off in Spain for a sea-side interview with actor George C. Scott on his announced plans to refuse to accept an Oscar if he wins one for his role in "Patton."

Wallace went to Israel and returned with an illuminating and crisp series of interviews with its leaders on the possibilities of a negotiated peace with Egypt. He followed with a thought-provoking feature on industry's efforts to rehabilitate alcoholic employes instead of firing them.

It was, as usual, a good mix of material and well put together.

Johnson to Build Hog Defense

By HARRY KING
Associated Press Writer

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Fortunately, coach Mervin Johnson is a patient man.

Johnson, offensive line coach at the University of Arkansas nine years, will coordinate the Razorbacks' defense this year. His task is not an easy one. During spring practice, which begins today, he must find replacements for seven seniors who started for the Razorbacks' last fall.

"Because we're young, our offense will enjoy some good days against us," Johnson said. "We'll just have to stick to our convictions."

"We have fewer experienced people than we've had in past springs, said head Coach Frank Broyles. "We're going to try to learn as quickly as we can and we're going to have to keep it very simple so they can be aggressive.

"We feel like we have some good players, but inexperience is our big problem," Broyles said. "Our players with experience—and there aren't many with much valuable playing time—will have to assert themselves and provide leadership. We need this because we have a group of young players we must bring along so they can play for us next fall."

Johnson concedes the offense has an advantage in spring practice because of Joe Ferguson, Jon Richardson, Jim Hodge and four solid performers in the line—Mike Kelson, Tom Mabry, Tom Reed and Glen Lowe.

Ferguson, who was brilliant at times last year while backing up Bill Montgomery at quarterback, is expected to step into the No. 1 spot.

"I don't want to put any pressure on him, but the intangibles of him being on the first team will come to the front," Broyles said. Ferguson, one of the most highly sought youngsters in the country while at Shreveport Woodlawn, possesses an excellent arm.

Richardson, an elusive runner, figures to be the tailback. He was more than adequate last year when Bill Burnett was injured.

Hodge, a dangerous wide receiver, also is from Shreveport Woodlawn and is entering his fifth year as Ferguson's pass-catching teammate. He caught 16 passes for 397 yards and two touchdowns as a sophomore.

Ben Hogan to Play in Houston Meet

HOUSTON (AP) — One of golfing's greats, Ben Hogan, will play in the $125,000 Houston Champions Tournament May 13-16, tournament backers said Tuesday.

It will be Hogan's first start since he was forced to withdraw from the Westchester Classic in New York last summer because of knee troubles.

He will come to Houston a week in advance for the tournament and play virtually every day with old friends Jack Burke and Jimmy Demaret in an effort to sharpen his game.

Hogan did the same thing last year and finished ninth in the tourney, winning $2,600. At the end of 63 holes he was contending for the lead.

"Receiving Ben Hogan's official entry was a tremendous thrill for all of us, said Miles McDermott, president of the sponsoring Houston Golf Association.

Hernandez Hot, Alley Rides Bench

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Gene Alley is no Easy Rider on the Pittsburgh bench with Jackie Hernandez in the main role.

"I guess I'll just have to sit here, though, until he cools off," says the Pirate shortstop.

Jackie Hernandez? Yes, Jackie Hernandex. You remember, the good-field, no-hit utility out fielder, 163 pounds with spikes and glove.

Thing is, he's playing out of character—like clouting .444 with 6 RBI, including a three-run home run Tuesday night that helped Pittsburgh level Philadelphia 9-3.

"I could be playing," says Alley, the Pirates' regular shortstop for years, "but he's doing such a good job, they can't afford to take him out."

Hernandez, an American League castoff with a .209 lifetime batting average in five major league season, got his chance with the Pirates when Alley suffered a broken hand in spring training. Now Alley's better, but so is Hernandez' batting average.

Pittsburgh batting coach Bill Virdon worked with Hernandez in Florida, but says the diminuitive Cuban isn't doing anything differently this season.

Cincinnati nudged Atlanta 5-4; Chicago shaded Los Angeles 3-2; Houston outscored St. Louis 8-4 and Montreal mauled the New York Mets 4-1 in Tuesday's other National League games. The San Diego—San Francisco contest was wiped out by rain.

In the American League, it was Kansas City 5, Minnesota 3; Oakland 2, Milwaukee; California 3, Chicago 1; Boston 5, Washington 3, and New York Yankees 5, Detroit 2. Rain washed out Baltimore's game at Cleveland.

With Danny Murtaugh shelved by the flu, Virgon was pinch-managing when Hernandez came up in the eighth with two outs and two on. He said he had a hunch Hernandez would come through.

Johnny Bench uncorked his third home run in two nights and keyed a seventh-inning rally with a single in the Cincinnati success.

"I'm happy, I can't be swinging much better than I did tonight," said the Reds' most valuable catcher.

In addition to his hits, Bench hit a screamer that was caught at the warning track in left field. He had two homers Monday night and a couple of other long-range blasts that turned into outs at the fence.

Bench jumped on a Pat Jarvis offering and sailed it into the left field seats in the third inning. A walk to Tony Perez, single by Bench and an RBI single by Willie Smith gave the Reds a 5-1 lead and what proved to be their winning run. The Braves scored three times in the eighth before reliever Joe Gibbon nipped the uprising with a double-play pitch.

Don Kessinger's eighth-inning single scored Jose Ortiz with the winning run for Chicago. Ortiz walked to start the rally, was sacrificed to second and roared home on Kessinger's bullet between shortstop and third base.

The loss was the third straight for Dodger ace Bill Singer, who only gave the Cubs two hits in the first six innings.

Joe Morgan's bases-filled single and Norm Miller's three-run homer with two out in the ninth carried Houston over St. Louis. The Astros, who took an early 3-0 lead, fell behind 4-3 when the Cards broke a tie in the eighth, and struck back against Mike Torrez in the last frame.

Montreal's Steve Renko beat New York for the second time this season, scattering eight Met hits. John Bateman's first homer of the season gave Montreal a 2-0 lead in the second for all the runs the Expos needed.

McLain and Senators Fall to Boston

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Denny McLain's fast ball came and went—followed closely by McLain himself after a faulty second fling for the Washington Senators.

"The harder I threw it, the harder they hit it," the controversial right-hander lamented Tuesday night following his early departure in the Senators' 5-3 loss to the Boston Red Sox.

McLain, a winner last Friday night in his 1971 debut, was tagged for all five Boston runs before leaving for a pinch hitter in the fifth inning. He gave up seven hits, including homers by Carl Yastrzemski and Duane Josephson.

Elsewhere in the American League, Kansas City downed Minnesota 5-3 in a game marked by seven hit batsmen, Oakland blanked Milwaukee 2-0 behind Vida Blue's two-hitter, California topped the Chicago White Soxs in 10 innings and New York beat Detroit 5-2. The Baltimore-Cleveland game was rained out.

In the National League, the Chicago Cubs shaded Los Angeles 3-2, Pittsburgh stomped Philadelphia 9-3, Cincinnati trimmed Atlanta 5-4, Houston bounced St. Louis 8-4 and Montreal turned back the New York Mets 4-1. Rain washed out the San Diego-San Francisco game.

Josephson's home run, after a second inning single by George Scott, started McLain's undoing at Washington. Yastrzemski, who visited President Nixon in the afternoon, unloaded in the third and the Red Sox added runs in the fourth and fifth, offsetting three unearned Washington tallies.

Lou Piniella's two-run single in the seventh was the deciding blow in the Royals' victory over Minnesota. The winners scored three times in the fifth on just one hit—a double by Paul Schaal—plus four walks and a ground out.

Four Twins and three Royals were plunked by stray pitches, tying the American League single-game mark of seven hit batsmen by Washington and Detroit in 1914.

Blue, Oakland's 21-year-old southpaw prodigy, held the Brewers to a pair of singles on the way to his second straight shutout victory after an opening day setback at Washington. Don Mincher delivered both runs with a single and double.

Run-scoring singles by pinch hitter Billy Cowan and Alex Johnson in the 10th carried the Angels past Chicago, pinning the White Sox with their fourth consecutive loss.

Stan Bahnsen weathered 11 Detroit hits and contributed a run-scoring triple to the New York attack as the Yankees took their home opener before a crowd of 34,745—largest for a Yankee Stadium inaugural in five years.

Smith, Ashe in Easy Victories

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Stan Smith and Arthur Ashe had easy victories among the seeded players who advanced Tuesday through first-round play of the $25,000 open tennis tournament at the Old Providence Racquet and Swim Club.

Marty Riessen and Frank Froehling also had little trouble with opening opponents in the North Carolina National Bank Open.

The third-seeded Smith, of Pasadena, Calif., defeated Greensboro amateur Allen Morris, 6-2, 6-2, while Ashe, of Richmond, Va., turned in a 6-3, 6-1 victory over Dick Dell, brother of the 1970 non-playing U.S. Davis Cup captain, Donald Dell.

Top-seeded Tony Roche and second-seeded Cliff Richey received first round byes and move into action in Wednesday's second round against unseeded players.

Marty Riessen of Tucson, Ariz., ranked No. 5, defeated Charlotte Pro Bob Joyner, 6-1, 6-4, and Zeljko Franulovic of Yugoslavia turned in a 6-3, 6-3 victory over Keith Stoneman another Charlotte player, 6-3, 6-3. Franulovic is ranked 6th.

Travs Open Season With 5-2 Loss

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — The Arkansas Travelers opened the 1971 baseball season in the new Dixie Association by losing to Shreveport 5-2 Tuesday night.

Shreveport's Dave Frost and Dan Keller combined on a five-hitter to trip the Travelers.

Frost allowed only three hits in five innings. Keller came in and finished the game. He surrendered two hits and put down 10 of the last 11 Traveler batsmen.

In other Dixie Association action Tuesday night, Savannah posted the only shutout — 3-0 over Montgomery. San Antonio nicked Albuquerque 5-1, Dallas-Fort Worth tripped Amarillo 6-2, Charlotte edged Jacksonville 3-2, and Columbus shaded Asheville 5-4.

Carew Will Remain in Baseball

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Rod Carew, second baseman for the Minnesota Twins, hinted strongly Tuesday night he likely will remain in baseball after all.

Carew wasn't very talkative but said:

"I know I have a contract to fill this season."

Earlier Thursday, the Minneapolis star reported Carew was seriously thinking about retiring from baseball. The player indicated he might retire after Tuesday night's game with Kansas City.

"I just don't feel like playing any more," said Carew, who led the American League in hitting in 1969. Carew, 25, missed half of last season with a leg injury.

When Twins' Manager Bill Rigney heard the report, he said:

"I nearly fell of this chair."

Tulsa Players Signed by Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Dana Lewis, 6-foot-10 Tulsa center, has a six-year contract worth a reported $500,000 with the Philadelphia 76ers of the National Basketball Association.

According to Lewis' agent, Steve Arnold of Pro Sport of New York, the player collects a good portion of the money even if he doesn't make the team.

Arnold refused to say how much Lewis will draw from the 76ers, but he did describe the contract as the best of any 1971 No. 1 draft choice other than that of Artis Gilmore.

The agent said it took only three meetings with 76ers' general manager Don DeJardin to reach agreement on the pact. He said that what made it easy was the Virginia Squires of the American Basketball Association, who also drafted Lewis.

"That gave us good leverage," observed Arnold.

The 240-pounder from Newardk, N.J., answered questions at Tuesday's news conference mostly in one, two and three words. He appeared extremely nervous and cautious.

He did elaborate slightly on why he chose the NBA's 76ers over the ABA's Squires.

"The NBA is a better class and it's tougher and I want to play in a tough league," Lewis said.

Lewis said he got an idea of how tough things are in the NBA when he saw the 76ers against the Baltimore Bullets in their recent playoff series.

Big Three Absent From Pensacola

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — The absence of pro golf's Big Three focuses the spotlight even more strongly on Bill Casper and Lee Trevino going into this week's $150,000 Monsanto Open golf tournament.

Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player, the storied, feared Big Three of a half dozen years ago, reasserted themselves this season to dominate the game again.

But none are playing this week, for a variety of reasons.

Player had planned a breather in his current American tour at this time and is at home resting in South Africa. Palmer is playing his busiest schedule in many years, simply is taking some time off.

And Nicklaus, who has voiced his hopes of making a single-year sweep of pro golf's Grand Slam, is home nursing the psychological wounds suffered in his defeat in the Masters last week by longshot Charles Coody.

With those three gone, the flamboyant Trevino and the quiet, Casper emerge as the men to beat for the $30,000 first prize in the 72-hole test that begins Thursday on the par 71 Pensacola County Club course.

Each has a personal goal to achieve. Trecino, who boycotted the Masters for the second year in a row last week has this last shot to win and make it into next week's prestigious Tournament of Champions.

He had announced the championship of that event as a personal goal for the year and must win this week to be eligible. His credentials are in order. He hasn't won, but has played about as well as possible without doing so.

Casper, at the urging of the State Department, is skipping the Tournament of Champions to serve as a member of the official party accompanying King Hassan II of Morocco on his state visit to this country.

This is Casper's last chance to win one for some time. He'll be off for a few weeks and the $1,million winner would like nothing better than to notch his 45th tour victory before taking off.

Dick Motta Named Coach of Year

CHICAGO (AP) — "That's fine," said Dick Motta of the Chicago Bulls when informed he had been selected Coach of the Year in the National Basketball Association.

"But you can't eat it," Motta added, "and I'd rather be in the playoffs than win this thing."

The Bulls were eliminated in the first round of the playoffs by the Los Angeles Lakers in seven games but Motta received the award for lifting the Bulls to a 51-31 record when the team did not figure to make the playoffs.

The Bulls record was third best in the entire league behind Milwaukee and New York.

Motta received 30 votes from a panel of three sportswriters in each of the 17 league cities. Larry Costello of Milwaukee finished a distant second with 11. The results were announced Tuesday.

Al Attles of San Francisco landed three votes and New York's Red Holtzman, last year's winner, collected two.

Receiving one vote each were Bob Cousy of Cincinnati, Jack Ramsey of Philadelphia, Lenny Wilkens of Seattle, Joe Mullaney of Los Angeles and Rolland Todd of Portland.

Motta, 39, came to the Bulls three years ago after a successful coaching tenure at Weber State in Utah where his teams won 237 games, lost 34 and captured six Big Sky Conference titles in 12 years.

His first Chicago team had a 33-49 record and his second team was 39-43 and made the playoffs in 1970 before hitting the jackpot this season.

"I have no desire to leave the pro ranks," said Motta. "I miss some things about the college atmosphere but there are a lot of games in pro ball and I have a one track mind anyway—it's on basketball."

Heavy Fines Slapped on Hockey Team

MONTREAL (AP) — Clarence Campbell, president of the National Hockey League, warned today he will continue to crack down hard on what he termed "the deplorable spectacle" of brawling in NHL games.

He slapped fines aggregating $16,550 on the New York Rangers and the Toronto Maple Leafs Tuesday for their brawls during the third period of their Stanley Cup playoff game in New York last Thursday.

The players of both teams tangled with each other in fights that delayed the game won by the Leafs 4-1. During the melee Vic Hadfield of the Rangers threw the mask of Bernie Parent, the Toronto goalie, into the crowd. It was not recovered.

"As the measure of club responsibility in this instance," Campbell said, "the New York Rangers and the Toronto Maple Leafs are assessed fines of $5,000 each, payable to the players' emergency fund."

The $5,000 fine handed each club is the highest in league history. William Jennings, president of the Rangers, said he would appeal to the NHL Board of Governors.

"This is not the first such incident for either team in the current season," Campbell said in his statement. "And in view of the deplorable spectacle they produced, the automatic fines provided in the playing rules are not adequate for their offenses."

Brad Park of the Rangers and Darryl Sittler of the Leafs each were fined $450, the highest among the 28 players involved. Goalie Ed Giacomin of the Rangers was assessed $400 for twice leaving his crease. Mike Pelyk of Toronto also was fined $400 and Hadfield $250.

The other players involved each were fined $200.

Rangers and Montreal Are Winners

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The New York Rangers took less than a minute to assert themselves while Boston and Minnesota waiting for the waning moments to show everyone who was boss in the National Hockey League's crucial playoff games.

Ted Irvine rammed a goal past harried Toronto netminder Bernie Parent after just 34 seconds of play and the Rangers, continuing their remarkable turnabout, blitzed the Maple Leafs 3-1.

But Boston, after building up a 5-1 lead, was wilting under Montreal's relentless assault before Johnny Bucyk's goal about seven minutes from the end deflated the Canadiens and enabled the Bruins to romp 7-3.

And Minnesota's Lou Nanne drilled in a rebound with less than four minutes to play to lift the North Stars to a 4-3 victory over the St. Louis Blues.

Tuesday night's victories—each in the fifth game of a best-of-seven quarter-final series, gave the Rangers, Bruins and North Stars 3-2 leads in the Stanley Cup playoffs. The action resumes Thursday night in Toronto, Montreal and Minnesota.

Goalie Eddie Giacomin, whose bid for a blanking was spoiled by Don McKenny late in the third period, shrugged: "A shutout would have been nice, but as long as we win, that's enough. I'll get one Thursday."

Toronto Coach John McLellan agreed the Leafs "didn't skate for two periods at all," when New York outshot them 25-10 to build a 2-0 lead on the goals by Irvine and Vic Hadfield. Bob Nevin made it 3-0 early in the third.

Boston's Wayne Cashman and Yvan Cournoyer of Montreal traded early goals before the defending champion Bruins raced to a four-goal lead on tallies by Phil Esposito, Mike Walton, Johnny McKenzie and Eddie Westfall.

Then the Canadiens opened up and, as Frank Mahovlich and John Ferguson cut the margin in half, it appeared they might duplicate their second-game feat when they rallied from a 5-1 deficit to win 7-5.

But Bucyk, coming off the bench, picked up a loose puck, swerved in from the right and, as he crashed into two Montreal defensemen, fired the puck into the net with 7:13 to go to knock the steam out of the Canadiens' drive. Ken Hodge wrapped up the Boston scoring.

Coach Al McNeil said his Canadiens fallied too late. "We should have started in the first period. We didn't work hard enough. It was a bad game—but we've had bad games before and come out of it."

Jude Drouin of Minnesota and Craig Cameron of St. Louis scored two goals apiece—with one by each of them coming just seven seconds apart to set a playoff record. And Murray Oliver of the North Stars and Wayne Connolly of the Blues also had tallies that sent the game into the third period tied 3-3.

Hockey Player Spends Night in Hospital

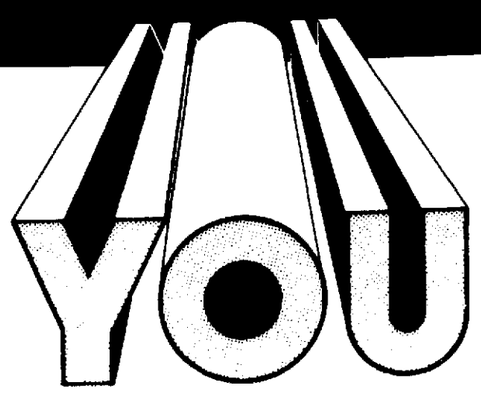

BOSTON (AP) — Montreal forward Phil Roberto was held overnight at Massachusetts General Hospital after suffering an apparent pelvic injury just after the start of the Canadiens' National Hockey League playoff game against the Boston Bruins Tuesday night.

Roberto was carried off the ice after he crashed into the boards while chasing Boston's Derek Sanderson in an attempt to get the puck just 24 seconds after the opening faceoff.

"He tried to turn with me and his foot got caught in a rut in the ice," Sanderson said.

The seriousness of the injury was not immediately determined pending observation and examination of the x-rays.

McCovey Out With Knee Injury

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — First baseman Willie McCovey of the San Francisco Giants will miss games here with Houston Wednesday and Thursday because of a knee injury, the club doctor said Tuesday.

McCovey twisted his left knee Sunday batting against Bob Gibson in the opener of a doubleheader at St. Louis.

He will have to rest the damaged cartilege for at least two days and won't be in uniform, the team physician said.

McCovey left Sunday's first game in the third inning and sat out the second one. But he played most of Monday's home opener and got a single in four times up before being relieved by Frank Johnson.

Decathlon Opens Kansas Relays

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Five decathlon events raised the curtain today on the 46th Kansas Relays, a four-day classic to be spiced with appearances of Jim Ryun and other world record holders.

Ryun, the ex-Kansas star who possesses three world marks, will return to his old haunts for the first time in two years. He will run Saturday in the Cunningham open mile.

Others are Curtis Mills, Randy Matson, Al Feverbach, Clifford Brench and Marcus Walker.

Ryun holds the world record of 1:44.9 for the half mile, 3:33.1 for the 1,500 meters and 3:51.1 for the mile.

Mills, the pride of Texas A&M, has the quarter-mile record of 44.7 and runs on the Aggies 880-yard relay team which holds the world mark of 1:21.7. The other members are Mills brother, Marvin; Rockie Woods, and Donnie Rogers.

Matson is the king of the shot putters with a record of 71 feet 5½ inches. Feverbach's 68-11 is the best indoors.

O'Brien Signs Contract With Condors

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Jim O'Brien is another beneficiary of the drafting war between the National and American basketball associations.

O'Brien signed a three-year contract with the ABA's Pittsburgh Condors Tuesday for $150,000, a $10,000 bonus and a leased car for three years.

"I think a merger would have cost me quite a bit," said the 21-year-old guard from Boston College.

Condors Operations Director Mark Binstein was more direct.

"It's safe to assume," he said, "that between the contract signings of Jimmy to Howard Porter including Levi Wyatt we would have saved anywhere from $100,000 to $250,000 on each signing."

Since Villanova's Porter was the Condors' first draft pick, Wyatt of Alcorn A & M the second and O'Brien the third, it is safe to assume that O'Brien may have gained close to $100,000 because of the lack of merger.

"Next year," Binstein said, "I'll bet a 6-foot-3 player won't command more than a salary of $35,000 to $40,000."

Binstein said he believes that budgets for player salaries alone today are higher than total franchise budgets for everything were five years ago.

O'Brien, from Brooklyn, N.Y., averaged 18.9 points a game and had a career total of 1,273, fourth highest in the school's history.

Rookie With Penquins in Finest Hour

MONTREAL (AP) — On April 12, 1970 at the Oakland Coliseum, young Michel Briere, a rookie center with the Pittsburgh Penguins, enjoyed his finest hour in the National Hockey League.

Briere scored at 8:28 of the first overtime period to give his team a 3-2 triumph over the Oakland Seals and a berth in the Stanley Cup semifinals.

Last May 15, Briere was involved in a serious car accident near his hometown of Malartic, Que., and Tuesday he succumbed to the injuries suffered in the accident, after 11 months in the hospital.

Briere suffered brain damage and a fractured skull in the accident when his sports car skidded off the road and crashed into a tree, killing one of his companions and injuring two others.

The accident took place about a month before the young hockey star was to be married.

Briere was flown to Montreal from Val d'Or and taken to Notre Dame Hospital where he underwent four brain operations.

He died about 4 p.m., EST. at the Rehabilitation Hospital where he has been transferred three weeks ago.

Doctors at the hospital said "he had died a fighting death."

During his stay in the hospital, Briere regained enough consciousness to be able to recognize certain familiar people such as Dick Coss, the man who scouted him for the Pittsburgh Club. Briere also was able to recognize his parents and sister.

On every trip to Montreal this season, members of the Penguins stopped in to visit their teammate at the hospital.

Talks at B&PW Meeting

GEORGE HALL AND MRS. LESTER KENT

JACK PORTER, MRS. LESTER KENT AND VELMA GOSS.

George Hall of Little Rock, SW District Director of the Farm Bureau Safety Division had the program at the B&PW Club dinner meeting on Thursday, April 3 at the Diamond. Accidents of many types from motor vehicle to drowning were mentioned briefly, but the speaker concentrated on falls in the home and showed a film, "Falls Aren't Funny."

Following the Safety theme, members were given large safety pins with a strip of peper attached to each. After the program, they wrote a safety slogan, and the prize for the best one went to Pat House. Before she introduced the speaker, program chairman Nedra Kent made a few remarks about safety measures we should take in every day living. She and her committee, Velma Goss and Jack Porter, had decorated the tables with baskets of Easter eggs, and a large bouquet of dogwood and weigela was seen behind the speaker's table.

President Mary Andrews welcomed the 24 present that include two other guests, Mrs. Mary Coffer of Camden, state revenue supervisor, and Mrs. Nina Anthony. She appointed a nominating committee to select next year's officers: Margie Vickers, Opal Daniel and Opal Hervey. Nike Club installation was announced for April 15 at 6:30 p.m. in the Douglas Building, and members volunteered to furnish cookies.

Chides Editors for Lazy Reporting

By STERLING F. GREEN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors chided fellow editors today for what he called lazy and superficial reporting, saying they are duped as readily by the Pentagon as by the New Left.

Newbold Noyes Jr., editor of Washington's Evening Star, urged 500 ASNE members at the start of their 1971 convention to try for "a more sophisticated, a more serious perspective on our jobs."

"We cannot keep saying that we are merely spectators of the unfolding scene, charged with transmitting it to the public.

"We are not just spectators. We are the people who must, whether we like it or not, decide what is worthy of public attention, and who must determine the way it is to be presented," he said.

Noyes suggested newspapers have been "letting the kooks on both sides determine for us what constitutes tomorrow's news—and the kookier their activity, the bigger the news." He asked: "Can we blame our readers for sensing that something is wrong with our performance?"

"No doubt the Pentagon easily makes suckers of the press—but no more easily than the New Left does," he said. "We are, it seems to me, tragically failing to develop for our readers any meaningful perspective on the activities of such special pleaders.

"Newspaper readers, which means ordinary people, need and deserve the information, the understanding, which will permit them to sort out the forces at work in society and to decide where their true interests lie."

The most frequent criticism of newspapers, he said, seems to be that the press has forsaken objectivity, "that public confidence is being eroded by a wave of activism sweeping through our newsrooms."

Noyes disagreed but said he did find newspapers guilty of being "lazy and superficial in much of our reporting."

He asked why newspapers, including his own, "had to wait for a graduate student writing in the New Yorker magazine" to explode the myth that 28 Black Panthers had been murdered by the police.

The ASNE Freedom of Information Committee urged the society to support a "national shield law" to protect the anonymity of news sources.

"The weapon most used against press freedom this year was the subpoena," the committee said. "Its use reached epidemic proportions."

The committee criticized Defense Department secrecy on the unsuccessful Son Tay raid to free American prisoners in North Vietnam and what it called "raw censorship" on some recent military operations in Laos.

The infrequency of President Nixon's news conferences was described as a matter of grave concern despite several recent meetings with smaller groups of newsmen in his office. "It is our hope that still more of these mini-conferences will be held," said the committee headed by Robert M. White II, editor and president of the Mexico, Mo., Ledger.

A panel of four editors and two White House correspondents will question Nixon Friday. At White House request the discussion will not be televised.

Several bills protecting reporters' confidential news sources have been introduced in Congress. Mitchell, who last year curbed the subpoena powers of federal courts and prosecutors attempting to elicit newsmen's unpublished information, suggested legislation would provide the only adequate protection.

Some law-enforcement officers use subpoenas to try to force the press to do their investigating and some lawyers use them to harass newsmen, the report said.

"Never has the subpoena been used as viciously, as irresponsibly and as often against freedom of the press as it has this year," it added.

Cases are pending in the Supreme Court and a number of states, and decisions against reporters recently have been handed down in Kentucky, Wisconsin and Massachusetts.

Warming Trend Scheduled in Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A warming trend should begin in Arkansas Thursday.

The state's weather picture this morning ranged from frost in the northern portions of the state to light rain in the extreme southern portions. The rain was expected to end during the morning with sunny weather forecast.

Highs today were forecast in the high 50s to high 60s with highs Thursday in the 70s to near 80 in the southeast section of the state.

The next weather producer is in the far southwest portion of the country, but it is expected to push eastward toward Arkansas. Clouds from the system may push into Arkansas by Friday, bringing rain to much of the state.

Lows Tuesday night ranged from the mid and upper 20s in the northwest and northcentral portion of the state to around 50 degrees in the extreme southern counties. Lows tonight should be in the 30s north portions to 40s south portions.

Overnight lows include Fayetteville 28, Harrison 38, Jonesboro 39, Pine Bluff 45, Memphis 42, Little Rock 40, Fort Smith 34, Texarkana 49 and El Dorado 51.

Rainfall reports for the 24-hour period ended at 6 a.m. include .02 at Fort Smith and Harrison, .06 at Texarkana, .08 at Fayetteville, .07 at Memphis, .04 at Little Rock and .19 at Jonesboro.

Thinks Nixon Knows the Job Better

By CARL C. CRAFT
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Well, 1972 is too far away to feel safe in any prediction now," says an editor assessing Republican chances of keeping the White House, "but as things look now, President Nixon knows the job better than anyone else.

"The economic issue might well be the most powerful factor in 1972 unless he can pass a good deal of the buck to Congress—where it should be passed," adds Talbot Patrick, board chairman and publisher of the Rock Hill (S.C.) Evening Herald.

Patrick was among 40 members of the American Society of Newspaper Editors questioned at random Tuesday as they signed in for the organizatgon's three-day convention.

The responses yielded a widely split decision—with one-quarter looking for him to lose and the rest generally leaning toward a Nixon victory or contending it is too soon to estimate how he would do, especially since it is difficult to figure which Democrat will be his rival.

They listed Nixon's handling of the economy and the war as key issues—although not always in that order. Generally, they said they expect the 18-year-old vote will be an important element in the outcome of the 1972 presidential race.

Among the replies:

"If the economy is on the upturn and we're pulling more men out of Vietnam," said Glen Boissonneault, editor of the Flint (Mich.) Journal, "he'll win re-election. But if either one is in the negative, I've got some real doubts."

"I'm not even sure he'll be a candidate," said Forrest Kilmer, executive editor of the Davenport (Iowa) Times-Democrat.

Charles L. Bennett, managing editor of the Oklahoma City Oklahoman and Times, said Nixon will win next year unless there is "some major disruption of withdrawal from Vietnam or a serious economic crisis."

Wallace Carroll, editor and publisher of the Winston-Salem (N.C.) Journal and Twin City Sentinel, said Nixon could be beaten "by any good Democrat, provided they don't spill too much blood on each other."

Any Democrat can win "if the war is not over, but if Nixon ends the war he probably can't be beaten," said Waldo Proffitt Jr., editorial director of the Sarasota (Fla.) Herald-Tribune and Journal.

Charles A. Guy, editor and publisher of the Lubbock (Tex.) Avalanche-Journal, said he thinks Nixon can win again. As for what issue might defeat Nixon, Guy said: "The economy is more important politically than the war—everybody is sick of the war, but they're not mad at Nixon about it."

Derick Daniels, executive editor of the Detroit Free Press, said Nixon "will probably win—the alternative is too weak."

Heart Surgery for TV Star

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Grandpa Jones of CBS-TV's "Hee Haw" program will undergo open heart surgery at a hospital here Thursday.

The Grand Ole Opry star suffered a heart attack in October and doctors said surgery will be performed to bypass troublesome coronary arteries.

Jones entered the hospital Tuesday.

TV Pentagon Show Sets Off Dispute

By JERRY BUCK
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The CBS News documentary "The Selling of the Pentagon," has set off a dispute involving three networks, Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, influential congressmen, at least one major newspaper—and now a congressional inquiry.

The House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee subpoenaed the network to turn over "all film, workprints, outtakes, sound tape recordings, written scripts and-or transcripts," including those which were not televised.

Dr. Frank Stanton, president of CBS, said the network would provide only material actually broadcast, adding that the demand "raised an unprecedented issue in the history of the relationship between the federal government and the press in this nation."

Both NBC and ABC issued statements Tuesday supporting CBS. NBC President Julian Goodman said the documentary was "a legitimate journalistic inquiry" and called the subpoena an "invasion of a basic, journalistic right."

Elmer W. Lower, president of ABC News, said he opposed the subpoena, adding, "To adopt any other position would drastically handicap the effectiveness and integrity of any news organization."

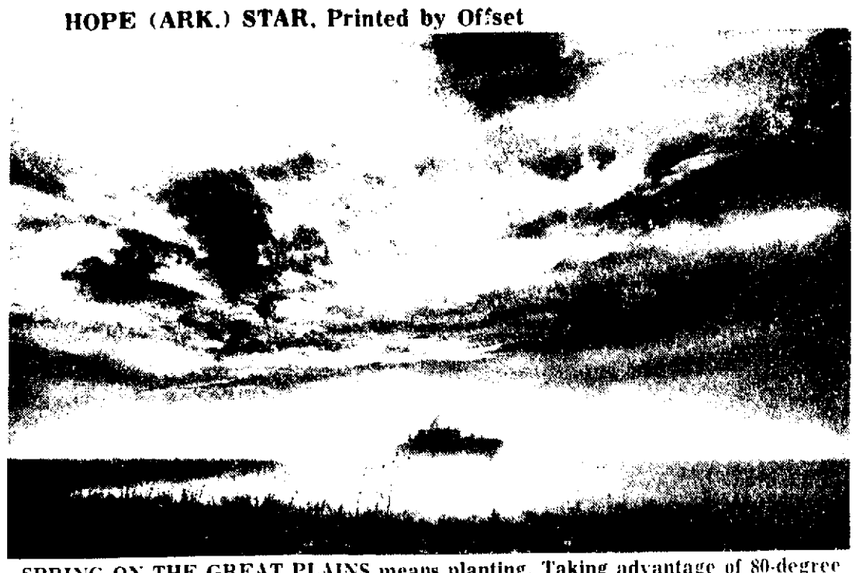

The subpoena was issued by Rep. Harley O. Staggers, D-W.Va., chairman of the committee and its special subcommittee on investigations. Both Staggers and Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, had filed complaints with the Federal Communications Commission.

If CBS continues to refuse providing the material and if the House of Representatives should vote a contempt citation, it could result in a major court test of broadcast journalism's freedom.

The controversy at first was between CBS and Agnew, Hebert and Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird. But it has continued to spread to include others, among them the Washington Post.

The dispute could spread to other areas. Hebert complained to the Federal Communications Commission that CBS used film edited in a manner to discredit the military's public relations effort. Staggers also filed a complaint with the FCC and said he is considering a hearing by his special subcommittee on investigations.

CBS said in the program, aired first on Feb. 23 and again on March 23, that the military establishment was spending at least $30 million and possibly as much as $190 million on public relations.

Airpower May Concentrate in Thailand

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon sources say U.S. airpower in Southeast Asia probaly will be concentrated mainly in Thailand by the summer of next year.

That will be about the time the United States is scheduled to end direct military support of South Vietnamese forces inside their borders.

By maintaining significant elements of airpower in Thailand and afloat in the South China Sea, the United States will be in position to continue hitting enemy supply trails in Laos and Cambodia even after U.S. troops in South Vietnam have been cut to a relatively small advisory force.

Also, American airpower based in Thailand and elsewhere in Asia will be available as a shield for American allies in that area.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said Tuesday he expects the United States to maintain an air and naval presence in Asia under the long-range Nixon doctrine after American ground troops are gone from South Vietnam.

That doctrine contemplates that allies will use their ground forces to defend their security while the United States backs them up with air-and seapower plus increased aid in money and arms.

Withdrawal of U.S. airpower from Vietnam has been slower than the cutback of American ground troops. This is because the administration's Vietnamization program calls first for replacing U.S. infantrymen with South Vietnamese soldiers in combat while development of the Vietnamese air force moves ahead at a slower pace.

But seven U.S. Air Force fighter bomber squadrons are due to leave starting this summer. By the following summer the United States will have only a few squadrons of strike planes and gunships in South Vietnam.

According to current plans, the United States will retain about a dozen squadrons of attack planes and gunships in Thailand into the summer of 1972 and probably beyond.

In addition, the Air Force will continue to base B52s in Thailand, although the force of giant bombers will be cut from the present 50 to about 28 by next spring.

The two Navy aircraft carriers stationed off Vietnam probably will be reduced to a single vessel carrying about 50 attack aircraft.

The other two carriers in the 7th Fleet will then be available for duty elsewhere in Far Eastern waters.

The United States also has fighter bombers based at Clark Air Force Base in the Philippines and is in the process of moving two fighter wings from Japan to Okinawa.

McCarthy Turns Professor

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Former U.S. Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy will be a visiting professor of English at the University of Maryland for one semester beginning in September, officials said Tuesday.

They said the Minnesota Democrat, an unsuccessful candidate for his party's 1968 presidential nomination, also was asked to teach government and politics but declined.

"He wanted to talk about poetry," said Dr. Morris Freedman, chairman of the English department.

McCarthy has written two volumes of poetry, the first privately published and the second published recently by Doubleday under the title "Other Things and the Aardvark."

Contract for River Work

WASHINGTON (AP) — T. L. James & Co. of Ruston, La., has been awarded a contract for dredging the Arkansas River from the Mississippi River to Pulaski County, Sen. John L. McClellan said Tuesday.

Under the contract with the Corps of Engineers, about 400,000 cubic yards of material will be removed from locks and dams on the stream at a cost of $130,000.

Thinks China Opening to World Outside

By JOHN BEST
Canadian Press Writer

OTTAWA (AP) — Ralph Edgar Collins, Canada's first ambassador to Communist China, believes the country is opening up to the outside world, and he expects a lot of Canadian visitors in Peking.

The son of an American YMCA worker and a Canadian mother, Collins was born in Kunming and spent the first 12 of his 56 years there and in Peking.

He told newsmen after announcement of his appointment Tuesday he is looking forward to returning to the country of his birth. "I think everyone brought up in China suffers from a sense of nostalgia when he is away from there for a long time," he added.

He was returned to China only once, in 1943-45 as third and second secretary at the Canadian legation-embassy in the wartime capital, Chungking.

A smallish, wiry man with an intense manner and a wry sense of humor, Collins said his main job will be helping to get relations between China and Canada launched on the right course.

Specific objectives, he said, will be for the government to set. However, he predicted that more Canadian tourists will be going to Cuba, and student exchanges are "in the cards."

Several visas have been granted Canadian newsmen since the two governments established diplomatic relations last October, and Chinese newsmen are welcome to come to Canada, the new ambassador said.

"I expect to have a great many visitors to Peking," he added.

Collins said he has learned Chinese several times in his life, and is "trying a bit of a review," of the language. But he doesn't expect to get down to serious relearning until he gets to Peking around the end of May.

He was asked whether he was practicing table tennis, an allusion to the current visits of some Western table tennis teams to Peking.

"I'm going to be sharpening my game," he replied with a brief grin. "I used to play ... I just haven't got around to it for some time, except for the odd occasion."

Collins studied at the University of Alberta, the Zimmern School of International Studies in Geneva, Harvard, the University of California and Oxford. During 30 years in the Canadian foreign service he has served in Washington, London, Moscow and South Africa in addition to Chungking.

Suspicious of 2-Agency Programs

By G. DAVID WALLACE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's consumer adviser, who is preparing to measure the effectiveness of government consumer programs, says she's already suspicious of any program run by more than one agency.

"I get worried when I see a program administered by as many as eight or nine agencies," Virginia Knauver said in an interview. "When you have this diffused responsibility you cut down on the accountability."

She mentioned specifically the Truth in Lending law, which is administered by the Federal Trade Commission, the Federal Reserve Board, the Agriculture Department, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, the Bureau of Federal Credit Unions, the Controller of the Currency, the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Civil Aeronautics Board.

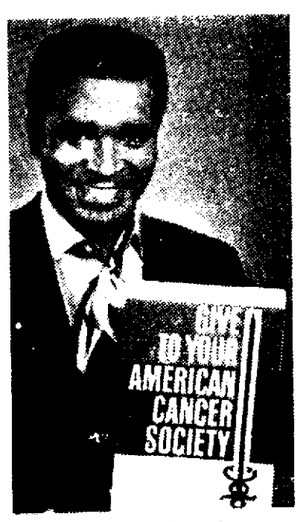

"I just couldn't believe so many people had their fingers in it," she said. "It creates a bureaucratic mare's nest. I'm not saying this one is. But the potential is there."

Mrs. Knauer bumped into the Truth in Lending maze set up by passage of the 1968 law after her office conducted a two-year survey to find all the consumer programs in the federal government. Overlapping and duplication make it impossible to determine the exact number of programs around, but the total has been estimated to be at least 300.

Now Mrs. Knauer is in the process of hiring program analysts who still compare what various agencies say their programs do with what the programs actually deliver.

Although Mrs. Knauer mentioned only the Truth in Lending laws as an example of a program where it would be hard to assign blame if something goes wrong, consumer advocates have blamed the same principle for the withering of other promising programs.

The 1965 Fair Packaging and Labeling Act, for example, has been written off as a virtual dead letter by even the legislators who sponsored the law. It's enforcement is divided between the Federal Trade Commission, the Food and Drug Administration and the Commerce Department.

Greg Morris takes time out from his derring-do role in "Mission Impossible" to urge everyone to back the American Cancer Society Crusade. "When you give your dollars to the Society," says the popular actor, "you are making an investment that pays off in the saving of human lives." The annual educational and fund-raising Crusade begins April 1st.

Sinatra Gets Oscar as Humanitarian

By JAY SHARBUTT
Associated Press Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Frank Sinatra receives an Oscar Thursday night for his works as a humanitarian. The choice has puzzled some.

Sinatra a humanitarian?

The 55-year-old singer, who recently announced his retirement after three decades as a performer, has been the subject of thousands of headlines. But relatively few concerned good works.

Yet along with such headlines as "Sinatra Plus Trio Mix Fists with Newsman" newspaper files include the likes of "Crooner Gives Fund for Shriners' Hospital," "Sinatra Sponsors New Scholarship" and "Sinatra Music Grants at UCLA Increased."

Sinatra and aides are not loquacious about his benevolences, but it is apparent that the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences has ample documentation for choosing him to receive this year's Jean Hersholt Memorial Award.

The honorary Oscar has since 1956 been given to "an individual in the motion picture industry whose humanitarian efforts have brought credit to the industry." The Oscar will not be Sinatra's first. He was best supporting actor of 1953 for his role as the feisty Pvt. Maggio in "From Here to Eternity."

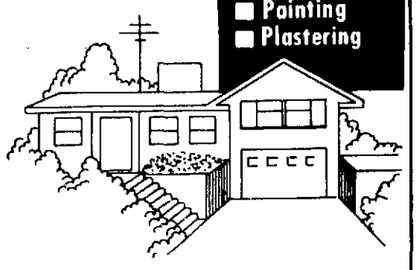

Hersholt winners have included Bob Hope, Gregory Peck, Martha Raye and George Jessel.

In what is billed as his final professional performance, Sinatra sings next month at a big affair for Motion Picture Relief.

He pledged $1 million for a Palm Springs medical education center named for his father. Through benefits, he raised another million for the Father Dismas Clark Fund to help rehabilitate teen-age delinquents in St. Louis.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Plan on Dying

Some years ago a clerk in a bookstore, unpacking a shipment of new books, found one on the subject of "estate planning." Thinking it must be about the landscaping of large homes, he placed it in the gardening section.

He would hardly make that mistake today. Estate planning has come into its own, used by thoughtful people everywhere to preserve assets during their lifetime and to pass them on wisely—and economically—at death.

One reason for the growth of estate planning is the growth of estates. Nowadays even the ordinary citizen is likely to have an estate of substance. It may well include not only a home and a savings account but also personal life insurance, group insurance, stocks, pension plan benefits, profit-sharing options, and social security rights.

Another reason is that estate planning has become far more sophisticated. Its techniques have gone well beyond the traditional "testamentary trust" for a rich old lady and "spendthrift trust" for a rich young man.

Unfortunately, there are pitfalls aplenty for the amateur planner. For example: many people think avoiding probate is the same as avoiding taxes. But the federal estate tax is based on the entire estate, whether it passes through probate or not.

Likewise, many people think life insurance is not taxable. But life insurance proceeds are included in determining a person's gross estate for federal estate tax purposes unless he has retained none of the incidents of ownership of that policy.

True, it may be sensible in certain circumstances to avoid probate. And it may be possible in certain circumstances to avoid taxes on life insurance. But clearly this is a field in which the layman needs expert help.

Much information is available from trust departments, accountants, insurance men, and investment counselors. The ultimate adviser, however, should usually be an attorney, since he alone is fully qualified to give the personal legal guidance a program should have.

Some people shrink from the thought of estate planning. But, like it or not, some plan is going to govern the care and distribution of your possessions. The plan could be yours, if you make one. If you don't, state and federal laws—oblivious of your wishes—will do it for you.

Large Stock Exchanges May Merge

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's two largest stock exchanges are nearing a decision on a revolutionary plan to combine their computerized operations.

The New York and American Stock exchanges have been discussing details of the proposal since last June.

If an agreement is reached, an independent corporation—tentatively named Securities Industry Automation Corp.—would be set up.

Such a start could possibly lead to further consolidations of NYSE and Amex operations.

But Ralph S. Saul, Amex president, said Monday in an interview: "I don't think there is any intention at this time to merge the two markets."

The independent agency under consideration was described by stock exchange executives as a "consolidated operating facility" which would eliminate duplication of services and produce economies. Computers already have taken over much of the detail work that had been done by hand for generations on Wall Street.

Instead of physically delivering stock certificates, the NYSE now employs a system called Central Certificate Service—CCS

Opening lead—♥ Q

By Oswald & James Jacoby

South won the opening heart lead and went right after trumps. East cashed his ace and led a second heart. South won with his king. Later on South had to lose both the club and diamond finesses plus a heart to go down one trick.

South criticized North for his Stayman three-club bid. He pointed out that with a 4-3-3-3 distribution, North should have just raised to three no-trump.

North agreed that this might have been a better bid but pointed out that South should have made four spades. The winning line of play would be to forget all about finesses and play the ace and jack of diamonds after winning the heart lead. This would set up dummy's queen of diamonds for a heart discard before the defense had time to set up a trick in that suit.

We feel both South and North are correct but that no real crime was committed. We would prefer a raise to three no-trump with the North hand, but can set up many hands where four spades would be a better contract.

The play is also close. South needed one of two finesses to make four spades the way he played the hand. This was a 75 per cent chance.

North's suggest line of play works but if is easy to set up hands with one or both finesses right that would collapse on the no finesse line due to bad breaks in clubs, diamonds or both suits. Our verdict is that North and South were more unlucky than unskillful.

Blue Flame Available for $250,000

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — If you want to buy a car that is capable of traveling 622.407 miles per hour, there's one available for $250,000.

The Blue Flame rocket racer, which hit that speed on the Bonneville Salt Flats in western Utah last Oct. 23 in setting a new land speed mark, was put up for sale Tuesday by the Institute of Gas Technology in Chicago.

The sleek blue car, which was en route Tuesday to Chicago from an auto show in New York, burns liquified natural gas.

It only has 213 miles on the speedometer.

A spokesman for IGT in Chicago said the company wants to devote its efforts and finances toward finding new supplies of natural gas, and could use the money from the sale.

"We gained a good deal of publicity from the Blue Flame," the spokesman said. . ."It's highly improbable that the Blue Flame will run this summer. There just isn't as much enthusiasm in the industry for the speed project."

The IGT, a research organization that offers degrees in gas engineering, cooperated with 48 gas companies in spending $500,000 to break the speed mark. At least $250,000 went into development of the car, the spokesman said.

The previous record was 600.601 m.p.h., set in 1965 by Craig Breedlove in Spirit of America, now in a Chicago museum.

GEORGE HALL

George Hall of Little Rock will coordinate Farm Bureau activities in this and 10 other counties of southwest Arkansas under a staff realignment of Arkansas Farm Bureau Federation.

Hall replaces H. T. Baber of Arkadelphia as southwest district director of field services. Baber has been transferred to southcentral Arkansas.

The shift was part of a state Farm Bureau staff reorganization which saw Jack G. Justus of Little Rock named head of a new Legislative Affairs Department and Walter E. Scales of Little Rock promoted to director of public relations.

Hall will perform liaison with county Farm Bureaus of the district, which include Columbia, Hempstead, Howard, Lafayette, Little River, Miller, Montgomery, Nevada, Pike, Polk and Sevier Counties. The district's 1970 membership was 6,622.

Hall has been Farm Bureau's safety director since August, 1969. Brought up on a rice farm near Hunter in Woodruff County, Hall graduated from the University of Arkansas in 1963 with a B.A. in agriculture. From 1963 to 1969, he was a research assistant with the University's agricultural experiment station at Keiser.

Hall is married and the father of two children.

Students Do Very Well in Investments

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Hand 12 university students $96,000 to invest as they see fit and what do you get?

About $18,000 in profits in slightly more than four months.

The project is part of a University of Wisconsin Business School course designed to give investment class students practical experience in dealing with the market.

So far, it's been a bullish success.

One of two six-student teams has realized an increase in its assets of 22.5 per cent since Nov. 30, compared with a 17.2 per cent gain for the New York Stock Exchange composite and a 15.7 per cent growth by Standard and Poor's 425 index, according to the business school.

The investment course was started last year after a former Wisconsin student, Baird Brittingham of Wilmington, Del., suggested investment students should practice what they learn by using the real thing—money.

From 32 applicants, the business school selected 12 students and split them into two six-man teams.

Using university funds, the school gave each team $48,000 for investment and $2,000 for expenses, such as interviewing business management personnel. One team was designated the Wisco Fund and the other the Badger Fund.

Ground rules were simple. The groups could invest in anything they wanted except commodities. They could not borrow money to buy stocks.

As of April 2, the Wisco Fund's assets were $59,074 and the Badger Fund's $55,064, the latter representing a gain of 10.1 per cent over the $48,000 received on Nov. 30.

Will the students be better investors because of their experience?

"Undoubtedly," said Stephen Hawk, one of three associate professors supervising the class. "These students have learned a lot of practical things."

Profits probably will be reflected in the grades earned by the students when the class investments end May 15. But the money will remain with the business school. Any loss will be absorbed by the university, Hawk said.

"Of course," he said, "if the students get the fund up to a half million dollars, we'll start making donations to scholarship funds for the School of Business.
